

Rags to riches

If you were to put the Cinderella poem, the biography of Andrew Carnegie, and the story of Dick Whittington together in one little book, what title would you give that book?

Out of Cinderella, Carnegie and Whittington, who worked the hardest, in your opinion? Whose hard work actually made them rich?

In which of the three stories did the main character have some kind of enemy? How did the enemy behave, in each case?

Rags to riches

Play 'odd-one-out' with the three characters. Make a case for any one of the characters being different from the other two (for example, Carnegie is real, the other two are fictional).
