

Reconciliation

If you were putting these three texts into one collection, what title would you give that collection?

Which of the three texts made you think the most about forgiveness?
Which made you think differently about forgiveness?

If you had to choose one of the three texts to use to teach other people about forgiveness, which would it be? Why would you choose that one?

Reconciliation

Now that we have read the three texts on the theme of reconciliation, can you think of other stories, poems or events that link to this theme?

What have you learnt about forgiveness/reconciliation that you might use in your own life?
