

Perseverance

If Ride Like You Mean It, Sophie Christiansen – Born to Succeed, and The King and the Spider were all put together in one book, what title would you give that book?

Which of the three texts makes you want to persevere and never give up? Which is the most inspiring? Can you explain why?

[illegible]

Perseverance

If a friend or relative looked like they were going to give up on something important, which of these texts would you give them to read? Why that one?

Try to imagine Sophie Christiansen, the King from the cave, and Zena and her mum all getting together. What might they talk about? What experiences would they share?
